PRICE SPREADS

Wives Robbed Probers Told

MONTREAL (CP) — Wholesale Shemon Yaphé says housewives are getting a raw deal from chain stores in fresh fruits and vegetables. Consumers allegedly were being "robbed" through high prices.

The burly secretary-treasurer of Karpman-Yaphé Incorporated, a Montreal fruit wholesaler firm which caters to the independent grocery trade, charged Thursday that the chains maintain a gross profit margin of about 100 per cent on fresh produce.

The Montreal chains, he alleged before the royal commission on price spreads, charged between 39 and 49 cents for 10 pounds of potatoes that cost them 19 cents.

They charged more than 10 cents a pound for onions that cost them five cents; 10 cents a pound for carrots that cost them 2½ cents.

"PUBLIC ROBBED"

"The public has to know about this," Mr. Yaphé said. "The public is being robbed."

His verbal evidence wound up the commission's two-day hearings in this metropolis. The seven-member body, headed by Dr. Andrew Stewart of Edmonton, now adjourns until Nov. 12 when it will open final hearings at Ottawa before preparing its report.

It has been set up by the Diefenbaker government to look into the question of whether there is too big a gap between the price the consumer pays for food and the price the farmer gets for his product.

If the commission finds the gap too big, it is to recommend what action the government should take to reduce it.

The Ontario Hog Producers Association Thursday suggested there is a trend towards complete integration of the pork industry, from the pig on the farm to bacon in the retail cooler. President Charles Melnick of Irons, Ont., warned, however, that Ontario farmers are ready to invade the processing field to protect their bargaining position if packers try to invade farms.

SECRET FACTS?

He called on the commission to investigate whether through secret agreements or other ways, chain stores, packing plants and feed companies are trying to integrate the entire food industry.

Above all, there should be wide open competition in food sales. Only through true competition could the price gap be narrowed.

AIR TIEUP MAY SPREAD O'SEAS

LONDON (Reuters) — A British Overseas Airways Corporation strike at London airport threatened today to spread to overseas airfields and to involve British European Airways, the other publicly-owned British airline.

Leaders of 4,000 striking maintenance men warned key staff to refuse temporary overseas posting that might help BOAC's beat-the-strike operation of its 15 airlines still operating outside London.

Direct approaches to BEA workers to join the unofficial strike have not yet been made but an immediate spread of the stoppage was threatened following reports that BOAC was chartering two BEA planes to ferry passengers between London and Continental airports.

BOAC denied the report but said it might put passengers on normal BEA flights for this purpose.

Federal Prison Suggestion Gets Cool Reception

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner said in a prepared statement Thursday British Columbia won't consider giving up its prison administration unless it is convinced the federal government can do as good a job.

Mr. Bonner's statement was made in connection with this week's dominion-provincial conference on penal reform—at which time it was suggested the federal government would eventually assume responsibility for all offenders sentenced to one or more years in prison.

The recommendation for federal control was contained in the Fauteux report on penal reform, made after a 1956 study.

Walrod Urges More Planning

PENTICTON (CP)—R. P. Walrod, general manager of B.C. Fruit Processors and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., says more planning will have to be introduced into the marketing of this year's Okanagan apple crop than in other years.

Mr. Walrod told a meeting of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association that the present system of planning is not complete and that a better system of estimating the strength of domestic and export markets is required.

TV Quiz Show Discontinued

NEW YORK (AP)—The television quiz show "Twenty-One" was discontinued after Thursday night's performance, a victim of rigging charges by former contestants on several TV quiz programs.

It thus joined in oblivion two other big money giveaway programs—"Dotto" and "The $64,000 Challenge."

A spokesman for the sponsor of "Twenty-One" on the National Broadcasting Corporation, said the show's viewers rating had been falling steadily in the last five weeks. He said the company concluded that the widespread quiz show inquiry was the reason for the waning interest.

The firm said it will replace "Twenty-One" with "Concentration," an audience participation show that awards mostly merchandise prizes. The program will have "Twenty-One's" emcee, Jack Barry.

Charles Van Doren first brought fame to "Twenty-One" by winning $129,000. Later Elfrida Von Nardoff went on to win $220,500, making her top money winner for any TV quiz program.

Both Van Doren and Miss Von Nardoff have strongly denied any knowledge of answer-rigging or cheating, as have a number of other former contestants.

FIRE SEASON DECLARED OVER

1958 Forest Loss—$3.5 Millions

VICTORIA (CP)—A sigh of relief sifted through the British Columbia forest service headquarters here Thursday as B.C.'s toughest and costliest fire season was officially declared over.

An order-in-council bringing an official end to the season was effective at midnight Thursday. The fire season—the worst in the province's history—opened 5½ months ago.

It was a constant battle between men and fires over the rich forest lands which provide B.C. with its largest single industry.

EARLY END

The cabinet order—in council, signed by Forests Minister Ray

Williston, brought the fire season to an end two weeks before usual.

"Although the Forest Act stipulates the fire season extends from May 1 to Oct. 31 inclusive," Mr. Williston said, "provision also exists whereby the season may be terminated at any time when it is considered safe and in the general interest to do so."

The lifting of the season means campfire and burning permits are no longer necessary for the general public and logging operators may drop maintenance of certain volumes and types of fire-fighting equipment which had to be held "at the ready" throughout the season.

In terms of dollars alone, the 1958 fire season was without equal in the records of the forest service.

At the end of last week costs of fighting the fires stood at an estimated $3,542,000—almost 30 times the cost in 1957.

More than 4,100 fires were reported during the season, against 1,575 last year. The cost during the first week of August alone was $100,000 a day.

On one day—Aug. 12—83 new fires were reported. On Aug. 27 there were 424 fires—burning throughout the five fire districts, with more than 3,600 weary men on the lines. Hundreds of bulldozers, trucks and tractors were thrown into the fight as the season progressed.

Aerial water-bombing was introduced in B.C. on a large scale for the first time and supplemented with aerial bombing with a borax mixture. Helicopters were pressed into use to get fire crews into inaccessible areas.

So far, no definite figure has been quoted to cover the other costs the fires brought: the value of timber burned and the money spent by the industry to fight the fires at $356,400.

Now, with the season officially over, the forest service faces its next big job: aerial photography to determine how much, if any, timber in the burned areas can be salvaged.

Figures to Oct. 10 show the Vancouver district suffered 1,691 fires at a fighting cost of $816,000. Kamloops had 1,021 at $541,000. Nelson had 612 at $739,160; Prince George had 516 at $1,855,700—the costliest area in the province—and Prince Rupert had 264 at $356,400.

There's been no final estimate of the number of acres burned during the season but a July estimate said 1,000,000 acres were burned in the Prince George district alone.

$40,000,000 FARM AID BEGINS ROLLING MONDAY

Prairie Producers To Get $1 An Acre

OTTAWA (CP)—Western grain producers next week will start receiving payments under an emergency $40,000,000 grant approved at the last session of Parliament, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today.

The money will be distributed by the Canadian wheat board on the basis of $1 a cultivated acre up to a maximum of $200 a farm. Payments will be based on wheat board permit books for the crop year starting last Aug. 1 and will be made directly to permit holders.

The government proposed the emergency grant to Parliament after rejecting demands by western farm organizations for crop deficiency payments.

Mr. Diefenbaker at that time said deficiency payments to producers "are not in the long-run interest of either the western grain producer or the nation as a whole."

HELP PRODUCERS

The prime minister said today that the acreage payments are designed to "extend assistance particularly to small western grain farmers who are actual producers."

He said the term "cultivated acre" to which the payment will apply will include all acres listed in the permit book except that shown as uncultivated land and natural pasture. Permit books are used by the wheat board to regulate quota

Fleming Reveals Aid To Pakistan

KARACHI (Reuters)—Canadian Finance Minister Fleming said today a shipment of 33,000 tons of Canadian wheat to relieve Pakistan's food shortage will be speeded up and moved next month.

Fleming discussed economic cooperation between Canada and Pakistan when he conferred with President Iskander Mirza and chief martial law administrator Gen. Ayub Khan.

Fleming said Canada has given a total of $90,000,000 in aid to Pakistan in the last seven years.

Civil Service Leader Urges Pay Restraint

OTTAWA (CP)—An officer of a major civil service association has advised members against an appeal to Prime Minister Diefenbaker over the latest rejection of demands for a general pay raise.

In a letter to 80,000 members, Trevor Gough, national secretary-treasurer of the Civil Service Association of Canada, said no appeal should be made in the interests of keeping civil service salaries out of the political arena and of not undermining the civil service commission.

The commission Thursday reaffirmed a recommendation to the government against a general increase. The CSAC and other civil service groups had sought an eight-per-cent general increase.

Following the commission's action, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the civil service associations could appeal the decision to him in writing.

Diefenbaker To Meet Formally With De Gaulle November 5

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker will have his first formal meeting with French President Charles de Gaulle during his 7½-week world tour this fall.

Mr. Diefenbaker will have a consultation with General de Gaulle one hour after his arrival at Paris on the morning of Nov. 5. The meeting will be followed by a luncheon attended by the two leaders.

Details of the prime minister's travel plans in the United Kingdom and Europe, lasting from Oct. 30 to Nov. 12, were issued today. Details have not yet been announced of the later stages of his tour.

Wholesale Firm Freed Of Taint

OTTAWA (CP)—A western wholesale firm has been exonerated by the restrictive trade practices commission of violating the Criminal Code by unreasonably underselling other wholesalers in the Edmonton area.

As a result, Justice Minister Fulton announced today there will be no court prosecution of Macdonald Consolidated Limited, accused by competitors of unfair competition.

Macdonalds had been one of a number of Edmonton area firms against whom competitors originally complained early this year. However, T. D. MacDonald, director of investigation, previously had given the others a clean bill. These were not named in the commission report made public today.

With respect to the Macdonalds firm, Mr. MacDonald reported to the board that there was no evidence that its lowering of prices on cigars, chocolate bars and chewing gum was designed deliberately to destroy competition.

But he said its pricing policy—particularly on cigars—could have this result on some small independent firms in and around Edmonton.

The commission under Mr. Justice C. Rhodes Smith found the evidence did not prove unreasonably low prices in the Edmonton branch of Macdonalds, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Big Western Sweeney chain store firm.

Macdonalds acts as a wholesaling agent for its parent company.

Tear Gas, Riot Guns Subdue Two-Hour Penitentiary Riot

DENVER (AP)—Seventy prisoners, at least one of them a confessed murderer, made a desperate but vain bid Thursday to escape from the Denver County Jail.

More than 100 law enforcement officers, armed with sub-machine-guns, riot shotguns and tear gas, quelled the uprising in a little more than two hours.

Four guards suffered cuts and bruises. The prisoners suffered only from heavy doses of tear gas.

The end came when the last of some 25 prisoners who had holed up in a penthouse atop the jail's maximum-security block apparently retreated through the same hole they had cut to gain entrance during the riot's early confusion.

The men who took refuge in the enclosure housing the jail's air-conditioning system and those who stubbornly held out in the cell block protested what they termed brutal treatment from guards.

ESSONDALE PROBE
VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Frank Turnbull, chairman of the B.C. Medical Health Association, was called to the attention of the provincial committee, well-known for its decision to investigate mental health services in the province.

Provincial Secretary W. D. Black said this week he will engage a team of experts from the American Psychiatric Association to conduct the investigation.

"It is precisely what we asked for," Dr. Turnbull said Thursday. "We will be interested in the experience that previous surveys have run by the association were very comprehensive."

Dr. Turnbull criticized the government before a medical convention in Kelowna last week for failing to launch an investigation. He said at that time that mental health services in B.C. were deteriorating through lack of staff and loss of experienced personnel.

Strachan Irritated
VANCOUVER (CP)—Provincial CCF leader Robert Strachan claims the press gives misleading impressions of politicians by reporting only the "sensational" sections of a political speech.

Mr. Strachan was addressing a meeting Thursday of the University of British Columbia Political Science Club. Noel Murphy represented the Social Credit party and Dr. Desmond Kidd the Conservative party.

Mr. Strachan said the press gives the impression that all politicians do is condemn and criticize. He said the highest honor a man can receive is "If I make a speech an hourman can receive."

Dominion Bridge Co. Accused Of Negligence In Coast Crash

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of Canada's biggest bridge-building firms, accused of negligence in the collapse of the Second Narrows Bridge at Vancouver with the loss of 18 lives, has blamed the tragedy on human error, "a risk inherent in the engineering profession."

Dominion Bridge Company representatives reacted sharply Thursday to accusations of negligence as a royal commission investigating the bridge collapse ended its hearings.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the British Columbia Supreme Court is to prepare a report of his one-man commission for presentation to the provincial cabinet.

In the final summing up by the commission counsel, Vancouver lawyer John Farris, Chief Justice Lett was told: "I would submit it is open to you to find that the collapse of the bridge was due to the negligence of the contractor, Dominion Bridge Company."

Dominion Bridge's own counsel at the hearings, Lyle Jentley, replied that there was no lack of knowledge, experience, efficient equipment or sound practices in the accident.

HUMAN ERROR
"It occurred because of human error," said Mr. Jentley. "This accident proves that no matter how competent the organization, or the extent of the precautions taken, even the best-run organizations and most highly qualified engineers are subject to human errors."

A young engineer blamed for two miscalculations in designs for a supporting beam and his superior who checked them were among the 18 victims when two outer spans of the bridge thundered into Burrard Inlet near here last June 18. A skin diver was drowned while looking for bodies two days later.

The $24,000,000 bridge was to replace an ancient wooden structure which now links Vancouver with burgeoning communities on the north shore of the inlet. It is still on, Lindsay, 20, a $263 fine Thursday.

Objective Thinking Needed For A Growing Community

To develop a city which will provide for its residents a happy and pleasant place in which to live and work, should be the objective shared by each of its residents.

Every one of us can help to make Kelowna a better and more attractive community if he keeps in touch with what is taking place in the day-to-day life of the city and its municipal government.

As policies and proposals are advanced by the city council and members of other civic bodies or community groups, these should be examined and criticized; but such criticism should be of a constructive rather than a destructive nature.

The difference between purely destructive and constructive criticism is one of creativity.

The creative critic has something which he, at any rate, feels is better than the proposal to which he objects. He should have a counter proposal which he feels solves the problem more effectively.

To criticize an action without a better solution is wasted effort.

Also, it should be noted, one who can meet truly constructive criticism with an open mind, becomes a bigger person.

In working for the community's good, a major thought to keep in mind is to learn to appreciate the other fellow's point of view, and if at all possible, combine with him to the mutual advantage of all.

Such an approach requires a truly objective mind — a mind which is seeking only the facts and the best solution for a civic need and which rules out the emotional and personal approach.

Kelowna has many problems awaiting solution — problems which involve deciding which civic need takes precedence over another. There are many things this city should have and eventually will obtain, but we must cut our suit according to our cloth.

Extension of the city limits, additional sewers and water system; a chronic hospital, more street lights and sidewalks, a larger police station; development of parks and playgrounds — all have valid claims on the public purse, but some sort of priority must be followed. The city council has already established a general approach to the problem by putting sewers and additional water mains first. Possibly the next thing may be the extension of the city limits. Then a chronic hospital; a police station, and additional hard-surfaced roads.

However it should be borne in mind that all these important facilities and services required by a modern city depend upon tax revenue and tax revenue can only come from people who have incomes. Most incomes are derived from jobs. So the more jobs there are, the more easily can a city and its citizens meet their commitments.

Let us constantly bear in mind that our contributions as citizens are for one end — to make Kelowna a better place in which to live.

Teen-Age Driving Problem

Teen-agers and other drivers under 25 years of age often are Canada's most dangerous drivers. Recent statistics from Ontario show that drivers under 24 comprise only 17.6 per cent of the driving population but are responsible for 30.8 per cent of all accidents, according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

The Federation, which represents more than 250 Canadian fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, is helping to reduce this accident margin through sponsorship of the annual Teen-age Safe Driving Road-e-o. But young drivers can also help by following these rules of safer driving which are recommended by the Federation:

1. If you are just learning to drive, have an older person or a driving school give you instructions.

2. Study your local and Provincial driving rules until you know them thoroughly.

3. Use a car as a means of transportation, not for entertainment on the road.

4. Do not drive with an over-crowded car.

5. Keep both hands on the wheel.

6. Don't race at stoplights or on the highway. Excessive speed wastes gas, is hard on your car and leads to accidents.

7. Don't allow yourself to be talked into playing "chicken" or other suicidal highway games.

8. Abide by traffic laws at all times. Don't break the law just because other drivers may do so.

9. Drive with care, courtesy and common sense.

Britain May Use Canada's Arrow

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON — Canada's Avro Arrow, the all weather-super-sonic CF-105 aircraft, developed specially for Canada's air defence, may find a place in Britain's defence system in the role of a jet bomber. This possibility appeared reasonable from some remarks made at a press conference by James C. Floyd, vice-president in charge of engineering of Avro Aircraft Limited of Malton, Ontario, and designer of the Avro Arrow CF-105.

Mr. Floyd came to London to give a lecture to the Royal Aeronautical Society on the Avro Arrow, under the title "The Canadian Approach to All-Weather Interceptor Development". His lecture, which was highly technical, told the whole story of the development of CF-105, and told something of its achievements in test flights. It was also remarkable for what could not be said because of security restrictions.

While Mr. Floyd, at the press conference, at which a remarkable film showing the steps in design and production of the Avro Arrow, and its test flights, showed a great aptitude for steering clear of awkward questions, he made the claim that the CF-105, while originally designed as an interceptor, carrying missiles, it could also be used as a bomber. The missile pack in the CF-105, he said, was as large as the bomb bay of the B-29 Superfortress—the world's first A-bomber. There is also sufficient room in its wings for extra fuel capacity to make it a long range aircraft.

Mr. Floyd, skated around questions as to whether he would be seeing Ministry of Defence officials, but left the impression that he would. It is known that the RAF is at the moment considering a replacement for Canberra jet bomber. The Avro

Arrow has an edge in that it is now in production, although the extent of production will not be decided until the Canadian Government makes its decision next March as to the place of the CF-105 in its defence program.

Up to the present, Mr. Floyd said, five Avro Arrows have been completed and flown in test flights, which have exceeded the expectations of the designer. These have been equipped with Pratt and Whitney J75 engines. The sixth, to be completed within the next month or two, will have the Canadian produced Orenda Iroquois engine. The new engine is expected to give greatly improved performance in the air, and may enable the Avro Arrow to make a bid for the world speed record now held by the United States Starfighter, at 1404 miles per hour.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

THE SYSTEM DOESN'T WORK

Always assuming that there is a system, I say it simply does not work. We are not dealing adequately or realistically with those who have not where to lay their heads or the wherewithal to fill their stomachs.

Let's agree right now that we are in some sort of depression or recession, whichever you like to call it. Let's agree that due to the inequity of government, or of the capitalist, or of those angels of light who must not be vilified, we are going to have a prize crop of unemployed people this winter. That means that we are going to have transients. We used to call them tramps. What is to be done about them? What is being done NOW about them?

1. We allot a certain sum from the Community Chest every year to a religious organization, where there is also maintained a clothing depot. However, those in charge of this religious organization are not always there, and the clothing depot is open only at specified times.

2. We have the Canadian Legion which distributes largesse to those who can show that they have been in the forces and are in need. We provide the money for this on Poppy Day.

3. The police office is, I believe, empowered to hand out to a transient one meal ticket.

My comments on these will be brief. The religious organization's representatives cannot sit around all day dealing only with transients, nor can the people who voluntarily serve in the clothing depot. The Legion cannot very well deal with other than those who have been in the services. Transients have a habit of turning up when everything is shut, except the police office to which they are hesitant to go. In any case no sleeping accommodation is provided. And so the transient enquiries for the location of the churches in the hope that "the reverend" may be in and may be soft-hearted or an ideal subject for what is known as "a touch".

In my own case, I sometimes ask if the fellow is a soldier. Yes, but he has either lost his papers or the Legion office is closed. Has he been to the organization which is the distributing agent of the 'Chest'? I get varying answers to that one. Has he been to the police office? Well, why go on? Usually we feed the guy but it doesn't solve the problem. I suppose the city doesn't want the reputation of looking after transients or they will converge on the place like a service club convention. Better to let the church authority deal with the matter. Easier that way.

Nevertheless, it is my opinion that caring for the needy is the job of the whole community. There ought to be a proper centre where these people can go and get food and a bed. Their respective cases could be investigated. If they are simply crooks and thugs, as many of them are, they could be attended to in the proper manner; but if they are genuine, then assistance could be given and perhaps something more useful might be achieved than by spending a lot of money on some other projects which have been mooted. Certainly the present system does not work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RE EDITORIAL

The Editor,
The Daily Courier

Dear Sir:
This evening I received a telephone call from the Canadian Press Vancouver informing me that The Courier had filed either the complete or a part of the editorial appearing in yesterday's edition of the paper.

The explanation in the editorial of the manner in which Canadian Press functions was most enlightening to the writer. In addition, C.P. Vancouver state that it is a policy of their organization not to comment on editorial opinion. They did however wish to check on the veracity of the story filed from Kelowna and it is apparent that C.P. does not naturally carry a story even though it be driven.

May I state that anything said during the TV interview was certainly not an attack on the Canadian Press as a news gathering agency.

It appears that the writer goofed as did the editorial in reporting that the TV interview was made on Sunday and not on Monday night.

No offence was intended. The purpose of the program was an honest endeavour to further interest in the complete support of the Kelowna Packers by the community in their tour to Sweden and Russia.

Yours truly,
DR. MEL BUTLER
(Editor's note: The editorial in question was filed to Canadian Press for CP's information, and was not intended to be used for publication.)

Dear Sir:
Referring to your editorial "Labor vs Luck". It would seem that with the machine doing more and more of the labor, we shall need a lot of luck to be able to be gainfully employed.

When say, nine tenths of the working force produce an abundance that can't be sold, under the present system. Then why should the remaining tenth work? Perhaps to produce, to give away in exports to countries with no Canadian dollars and no hope of getting them. Our total production now exceeds our ability to buy by nearly 16 per cent. Should you have full employment at the present hours of work, this condition should become worse. A shorter working day and higher pay, is one way of resolving the differ-

1,000-Year-Old Eskimo Life Evidence Found By Expert

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A Michigan State University anthropologist has dug up important new evidence of Eskimo life 1,000 years ago.

Moreau S. Maxwell, with an 18-man party of Canadian scientists, flew deep into the Arctic last May on an expedition that was part of Canada's contribution to the International Geophysical Year.

Maxwell, the only American in the group, spent three months digging in Eskimo remains on Ellesmere Island. About 400 miles long, the island lies several hundred miles from the North Pole and all but touches the northwest shores of Greenland.

The expedition, led by G. F. Hattersley-Smith, accumulated valuable facts and figures on weather, ice and topography in the northern Arctic. Maxwell worked almost entirely by himself, spending as many as 24 straight days alone among Eskimo sites discovered 76 years ago by an American explorer, Lieut. A. W. Greeley.

The sites, most near Hazen Lake, are situated farther north than any others so far discovered on the North American continent, Maxwell said. Others somewhat nearer the pole have been found on Greenland.

With trowel and spade, Maxwell investigated six semi-subterranean sleeping platforms dug out by Eskimos and 27 rings or rocks that once anchored tents of caribou hides.

Careful digging yielded a wealth of artifacts, including strings of amber beads, dolls made of driftwood, a soapstone cooking lamp, an ivory needle case, sled shoes and a comb, both made of whalebone, and the remains of a man and woman. Once classified by Maxwell, they'll be shipped to the National Museum of Canada in Ottawa.

From this and other evidence, Maxwell drew what he stressed are preliminary conclusions.

"No more than two or three families of probably no more than four persons each ever inhabited the island at one time," he said. "I doubt if any one group stayed more than two or three years at the most."

The oldest habitation, he said, apparently was erected close to 1,000 years ago. The last group he believes left about the 13th century.

Eskimos now on the island were transplanted there a few years ago by the Canadian government.

"The cold winters must have driven them out," he said of the early groups. "Just last winter temperatures up there went to about 70 degrees below zero."

"Also seal meat is a staple with Eskimos and there apparently weren't many seals in that area. Hunting conditions varied."

Maxwell thinks the group belonged to the Thule Eskimo culture, that dates back about 1,000 years. The Paleo Eskimos—the oldest culture—apparently crossed the Bering Straits separating Russia from North America some 3,000 years ago, some of them migrating east as far as Greenland.

Parents Return To School Next Week

Mom and Dad, older sister and brother—Grandma and Grandpa—will be able to go back again this year.

But it will be at night time—the same as during the past few years.

Resumption of night school next week has been announced by the board of trustees of School District 23 (Kelowna).

Even some of the students now attending high school may enter if they wish—providing there is no conflict with courses they are currently taking in "day" school and they are at least 15 years old.

Courses offered are somewhat the same as last year. Other courses also will be added if demand is good enough and if suitable instructors can be found.

A booklet has been prepared for free distribution to anyone interested.

Registration for courses will take place at the first session for that course. Those interested are urged to register before the first night, if unable to attend the opening session, because insufficient registration (and interest) will result in cancellation of the class.

Late registrations can be made, "provided there is still room available in the class," night school officials advised.

Classes intended to be held this year, with the instructor in brackets, include: farm mech-

Heavy Damage Caused By Early Snowfall

WESTBANK — Last week's heavy snowfall, the earliest in years, caused permanent damage to many fruit trees in this area. Hardest hit were growers on the 10-year-old Lakeview Heights VLA development, where almost every orchard, large or small contained trees split right down the centre to the ground level.

The weight of the heavy, wet snow gathered on branches not yet half bare of leaves caused the damage.

Apricot trees were most susceptible to the splitting, but many peaches and a few apples, including Delicious and McIntosh, also succumbed. Several growers on the larger orchards in that area lost up to 15 per cent of their trees, which were mostly six to eight years old and therefore were just coming into bearing. Several attempts are being made to bolt and mend the trees not so badly broken, but the success of such attempts is doubtful.

There was some damage in the immediate Westbank area as well, but since the orchards here are predominantly mature trees, injury is not so severe. There is no indication of any harm done to orchards at the lakeshore where the snow did not remain as it did on high levels.

Want Monashee Road Relocations

NELSON (CP) — Relocation of short sections of the Monashee highway, especially near McIntyre Creek, has been urged by the Lower Arrow Lake board of trade in a brief to the provincial cabinet.

The brief asks for an immediate start and early completion of reconstruction of the sections to bring maximum altitude of the road to less than 4,000 feet, and to eliminate a switch-back and three steep hills.

Mrs. Lottie Ward Final Rites Held

Funeral service was held Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Lottie Ward, wife of George Edwin Ward, 1422 Richter St. Her death occurred Tuesday at her home. She was 84 years of age.

Rev. R. S. Leitch, rector of First United Church, officiated at the final rites at Day's Chapel of Remembrance. Burial followed at the Kelowna cemetery. Pallbearers were: Messrs. Lloyd Jackson, A. E. Johnson, Floyd Eldstrom, Fred Armeaneu, Harold Armeaneu and Donald Day.

A resident of the city for the past eight years, the late Mrs. Ward was born in Hampshire, Eng. She and her husband married in England in 1902, coming to Canada 11 years later with their three children.

At first they homesteaded near Tompkins, Sask., later going to Porcupine Plain, Sask., where they continued to farm until retiring and coming to Kelowna in 1950. During her active years she was an ardent church worker. Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. E. (Ruby) Casner and Mrs. Fred (Ruth) Armeaneu, both of Kelowna, and Mrs. J. (Gladys) Michalkow of Porcupine Plain. Also surviving are 11 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren; also a sister in England.

Big Deer Kill Above Average

NANAIMO (CP) — An exceptional deer take for this time of year is reported by regional game biologist Don Robinson of Nanaimo.

Pointing to a survey of the Northwest Bay area, Robinson said a one-in-seven success rate was shown by a check there, with good takes also reported by hunters returning from the South Forks and Nanaimo Lakes areas.

The biologist said a one-in-20 average is normal for October—the poorest of the three deer-hunting months.

Reasons for the improved take were given by Robinson as a good carryover from last year and ideal hunting weather.

Re-elect Officers For Navy League

VERNON — Thirty members of Vernon branch, Navy League of Canada, attended the organization's annual meeting Oct. 14 in the Armories.

President, C. A. Bristow; vice-president, J. Briard; Sea Cadet chairman Carl Sorenson and secretary-treasurer William Nichol all were re-elected. Named to the executive were: R. Williams, R. Foulds, George Falconer, R. Carpenter and Mrs. C. A. Bristow.

Around World In 80 Days Starts Tonight

The production of "Around the World in 80 days" has made motion picture history, shattering records and precedents with Toddian profanity.

The film—Jules Verne's classic global saga—will play at the Paramount Theatre, starting tonight, for six days.

"Titanic... magnificent... smasher" are some of the accolades the movie has received from critics the world over. The show revolves around the adventurous attempt to circle the globe in a balloon in 1872.

It has five academy wards.

The vastness of it is best illustrated with the ingredients producer Mike Todd took to build the masterpiece.

Among them:

The most stars ever to appear in a movie—50—each playing a role germane to the story and none appearing as himself.

The most people photographed in separate world wide locations: 68,894 persons in 13 different countries.

Also the most sets ever used—140 actual locations in addition to the stages of six major Hollywood studios as well as sets in England, Hong Kong and Japan.

There were 33 assistant directors; more species of animals photographed in their natural habitats, and more costumes used, rented or designed (74,685).

The impeccable, urbane and imperturbable British actor David Niven was chosen to play Phileas Fogg, star character, because he epitomized the public's conception of Verne's classic adventurer.

Cantiflas—one of the world's highest paid comedians (minimum income $100,000 a month) and described as the greatest living performer, is Passepartout, Phogg's valet.

For Inspector Fix, Todd chose Robert Newton, another popular British actor to portray an obtuse man, with shrewd cunning—a caricature of Hawshaw and Javert—yet real.

For the heroine, Princess

STRANGE Tales

ABOUT PROTESTANTS

Strange tales are being circulated about Bible-believing Protestants.

The rumor has been circulated that these Protestants do not belong to the "true church." It is being said that the Protestant faith started in the 16th century. You can hear it said that this Protestant faith was founded by "corrupt" leaders... and that they started a new kind of Christianity.

The Bible gives us an accurate account of how the Christian Church began. The early Christians obeyed Christ's command to "preach the Gospel to every creature." The Bible says they "went everywhere preaching the Word." As a result, groups of Christians sprang up all over the known world.

These scattered groups of believers, independent of one another, were united only in their faith in the Bible message... that "Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures." (1 Corinthians 15:3)

The Church in the first century was not an organization; it consisted of groups of individual believers. The true Church today is not an organization, nor a group of organizations. It is the total number of those who are believers in the Bible message of salvation.

The basis of membership in the true Church has not changed since the first century... it has never been by spiritual birth, as Christ explained to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John 3:3)

You may have other questions about the true New Testament Church, and about membership in a local Bible-believing church. Many of your questions are answered in an interesting FREE pamphlet which will be sent to you if you mail the following:

"LONELIEST GUYS" TO RECEIVE AWARDS

A new trophy was introduced into Okanagan Senior Hockey League play last Tuesday night, when Kelowna's retiring arena manager, Percy Downton, called on the "loneliest guy in the rink," Dave Gatherum, the Packers' 5'8" netminder who was low man in the goals-against department for the OSHL last year with 3.61, came over to the sin-bin to receive his award, which will be an annual trophy for that department.

Packers Defence Slimmed Tonight

The Packers will have a well-trimmed roster tonight for the visit of the Kamloops Chiefs, at 9 p.m. in the Memorial Arena. They might even be said to be trimmed to the point of austerity, where the defence is concerned, with Harry Smith and Bob Bergeron sitting this one out.

Centre man Gordon Cowan also took off for Toledo yesterday, expressing the feeling that this club was a bit higher calibre than he has been accustomed to.

However, coach Jack O'Reilly has three better lines than he has ever had, to date, and he will have three men to share the blue line chores. Based on the line-up the Chiefs intend to ice tonight, it should be possible for the Packers to chalk up their third straight league victory, providing they work hard.

NEW REAR GUARD
Wayne North, 20-year-old blonde crew-cut from Estevan, Sask. handled his 180 lbs. well enough in Tuesday's night's game to rate signing up by the executive, and will go into tonight's encounter as a regular member of the rear guard.

Andy McCallum, who will probably team up with North for the regular shifts, will be carrying a lot of the load tonight, with Al Pyett making the third man on the blue line squad. McCallum, however, seems to thrive on hard work.

Smitty, another fellow who thrives on plenty of ice time, will be sitting this one out with a badly swollen eye, and may not see action until after the weekend.

Up front, however, O'Reilly will have his production line of Young-Jones-Durban; his high-scoring line of Middleton-Kaiser-Roche, and his beef-trust line of Jablonski - Goyer - Kowalechuk.

They will be called upon to be crisp with their back-checking tonight, to make up for the thinned-out blue line patrol.

In goal, Dave Gatherum will be seeking to hold down that goal average, and he'll have to keep an eagle eye on snipers Millard and Hryciuk in the process.

Most of the Kamloops line-up will be just as new to local hockey officials as it will be to the fans when they buy a program, since there have been changes a-plenty up at the Hub City.

In his first time out, fledgling mentor Bill Hryciuk received a 4-2 beating at the hands of the Vernon Canadians, and he will be out to fire up his boys for victory, if he can do it.

Coach O'Reilly will be playing this one as he does every one, to win. The players will be getting the feel of playing with each other by now, and the Packers machine should be clicking smoothly.

The Vernon Canadians will travel to Penikese tonight, and coach Pat Courn will also be trying to come off with his first

Chihawks Emerge With New Look

Canadian Press

No, those standings aren't printed upside down. Chicago Black Hawks really are leading the National Hockey League.

The undefeated Black Hawks posted Red Wings 7-2 in Detroit Thursday night, looking like anything but the club which flirited with the league cellar all last season and wound up a dismal fifth.

While Hawks were making it look easy, Montreal Canadiens—who just about everybody has picked to make another runaway this season—had a tough time putting down the scrappy Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3.

Eric Nesterenko and ex-Red Wing Lorne Ferguson supplied the big scoring punch for Chicago with a pair of goals each.

SAWCHUK DROPS PUCK
Hawks made the most of every opportunity. Winger Forbes Kennedy was sitting out a charging penalty when Nesterenko opened the scoring with a hard drive that goalie Terry Sawchuk caught but dropped, the puck sliding into the net.

Ferguson made it 2-0, roaring in with two defencemen practically hanging on him to beat Sawchuk cleanly.

Len Lunde, brought up from Edmonton in the Western Hockey League, scored his first NHL goal in the second period to make it 2-1. But 17 seconds later, with Hawks' Al Arbour still in the penalty box, Ken Wharram fattened the Hawk lead.

Chicago poured it on in the third with goals by Ferguson, Nesterenko, Danny Lewicki and ex-Canadian Dillard St. Laurent. Bill McNeill scored the second Detroit goal on a Lunde pass.

The Stanley Cup champion Canadiens had a 2-0 lead going in the first period on goals by Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Dickie Moore when Leafs' Bobby Pulford exploded with two goals in 47 seconds.

Leafs jarred 13,714 Montreal fans by grabbing a 3-2 lead at 1:36 of the second period on a shot by George Armstrong deflected off Dave Creighton's stick.

Boom Boom Geoffrion tied it up for Habs midway through the third period and it was a nip-and-tuck battle until the 17-minute mark when Henri Richard picked up his fourth assist of the night with a neat pass which Moore smacked past goalie Johnny Bower.

Play-Offs Loom Injuries Zoom For WIFU Clubs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Regina is the focal point of this weekend's Western Interprovincial Football Union play as the league's five teams nurse injured squads into the home stretch with three games.

The 16-game league schedule ends two weeks from Saturday. The outcome of the Calgary Stampeder - Saskatchewan Roughriders game this Saturday will have an important bearing on the playoff fortunes of three teams.

A Saskatchewan victory would assure both Saskatchewan and Edmonton Eskimos a playoff berth. Stampede must win to stay within reach of the third and last playoff spot.

Meanwhile, Edmonton can wrap up a sure playoff post by defeating British Columbia Lions in Vancouver Saturday night and Winnipeg Blue Bombers can clinch first place by downing Riders in Winnipeg in Monday's only game.

LITTLE HOPE
Few are conceding Eskimos a victory in Vancouver, in view of Lions' three straight triumphs over Winnipeg, Calgary and Saskatchewan in their last three outings.

"Stampede have their backs to the wall," says General Manager Jim Finks in something of an understatement. "But they haven't given up. We've got lots of spirit in practice."

Stampede have lost Canadian halfback Harvey Wylie for the season through a knee injury suffered last weekend against Edmonton and halfback Chick Holloway has been slowed by an injury.

Nobby Wirkowski's back hasn't healed fully and he'll probably share quarterbacking duties again with Ron Clinkscales, normally a halfback.

Rider coach George Terlep, the only coach in Canada with another game to play before declaring his final 12 United States players, may be able to return end Ken Carpenter and fullback Bobby Marlow to his lineup, since he has two important changes left.

BERGER OUT
Marlow and Carpenter have been out for two games with injuries and Terlep sat out offensive centre Don Berger last weekend in order to insert tackle Harry Javernick, a late cut from Philadelphia Eagles.

Eskimos are doing some lineup juggling following their rugged weekend doubleheader with Calgary in which Edmonton won twice. Defensive halfback Steve Bendiak was knocked out for at least one game with a knee injury and linebacker Gino Fracas will sit out another with a similar ailment.

Halfback Rolfe Miles will move from his linebacker slot to Bendiak's half position and Joe Mobra will take over Miles' cornerback spot and halfback Don Flynn will go in Fracas' linebacker slot. This means Flynn and Mobra will go both ways for much of the game.

Coach Sam Lyle, peering over an injury list that has slowed down quarterback Jackie Parker, fullback Johnny Bright, halfback Oscar Kruger as well as Miles and Mobra, does not hold hopes high for the B.C. encounter.

BEATEN THE REST
"They've beaten every team in the league except us," says Lyle, "and, boy, they're going to be after us."

Coach Bud Grant of Bombers will have Iowa flash Kenny Ploen back in his lineup by Monday, moving him to right half and leaving Michigan quarter Jim Van Pelt at quarter.

Van Pelt took over when Ploen suffered a back injury and has a 5-1 record since.

Bombers say Ploen's passing arm is still hampered a bit by the injury, but he'll be dangerous as a half.

Roger Saville, Keith Pearce and Jerry Vincent are expected to miss the game with various injuries.

Smokies Smack Nelson Leafs

TRAIL (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters opened the 1958-59 Western International Hockey League schedule with a 4-1 triumph over Nelson Maple Leafs here Thursday night before a poor turnout of 659 fans.

It was a losing debut for Ollie Doronoff as Nelson coach, Doronoff, a 10-year Western Hockey League veteran with Seattle and New Westminster, arrived in Nelson Wednesday to take charge of the team.

The Leafs, expecting a new goalie shortly, borrowed Trail spare Bill Margoreth.

The Smokies struck late in the first period to build up a 2-0 lead. It was 3-1 at the end of the second.

Scorers for Trail were Gerry Godfrey, Ron Fynn, Ad Tambellini and Ernie Secco, Gord Garant tallied Nelson's only goal.

Recent Revival Of Argos Seen As High Explosive

Like a demolition expert awaiting the arrival of a new-type bomb, coach Frank Clair had a right today to feel a little apprehensive.

The bomb, the Big Four Football League's Toronto Argonauts, will be planted Saturday in front of Clair's Rough Riders on the field at Lansdowne Park in Ottawa.

Whether it goes off is another matter.

The Toronto team was not always a bomb. In its first nine games of the season, no amount of stomping, booting or general abuse would make it go bang.

Once it went sort of "phffft" and Montreal Alouettes lost that game 15-14.

THAT SHE BLEW!
Last Monday, Thanksgiving Day—not a popular holiday with Toronto football fans—the bomb went off as Argo coach Hamp Pool, in the pre-season workouts, used to imagine it one day might.

The 37-0 blast created a fearful mess of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, whose eight victories and a tie had them leading the league on Thanksgiving Day with almost as many points as the other three teams put together.

Hamilton, out to reassure supporters that last Monday's shattering was just one of those things, will face Montreal Alouettes at Hamilton Saturday.

Monday's defeat was the Tiger-Cats' first of the 1958 schedule. It also showed what Toronto might have done to the rest of the league if quarterback Ronnie Knox had been on hand since the first game.

Despite Knox's late arrival, Argos still have a slight hope of catching one of the three playoff berths. To pull it out they must either win their four remaining games while Als lose three or win three while Als lose all four of theirs. Ottawa could clinch a playoff spot with a win in either of its two games with Toronto.

Hamilton is securely in the playoff picture, but needs one win to tie down first place.

Knox, whose brilliant field genim into the glamor boy of United States college football a few

IN MOMENTS OF CRISIS—CONFIDENCE COUNTS

Imperial's 78 years of leadership has helped Canadians take for granted the reliability of oil and oil products

Reliability implies an adequate supply of the products you depend upon... when and where you need them, at reasonable prices.

Imperial has always been the leader in ensuring Canadians of an adequate supply of oil. Imperial's discovery of oil at Leduc, in 1947, opened the vast western oil fields.

The first oil company to supply consumer needs in all Canada's provinces, Imperial has nine refineries from Halifax to Vancouver (and in the Northwest Territories) to meet the local needs of Canadians.

Imperial has always been the leader, too, in a highly competitive industry which must seek... by broadening markets and increasing efficiency... to keep prices down. Over the past ten years, while prices of things in general have risen 134%, regular gasoline has gone up only 11%.

Since Leduc, Canadian crude oil reserves have increased 46 times.

Every Concert Important To Popular Don Cossacks

Always a favorite with music-loving audiences everywhere, the Don Cossack Chorus will be presented here on Tuesday night at the Empress Theatre under the sponsorship of the Kelowna Rotary Club.

The Platoff Don Cossack Chorus was originally organized in the capital of Czechoslovakia, Prague, in 1927. Ever since its inception the Chorus has been headed by Nicholas Kostukoff who acted simultaneously as the chorus leader and as its administrator.

The membership of the Chorus has always comprised the best of the vocal talent obtainable among the White Russian emigres who fought Communism in Russia as early as 1918-1920 and who actually may be considered as the pioneers in the fight against the World Communism.

Since 1927 the Chorus has toured all five continents and has nineteen times crossed the equator in places like Atlantic, Pacific and the Indian Oceans, as well as in Sumatra and in the Republic of Ecuador. It can be truly said that there is not and never was another body of singers which has completed such an extended round of voyages as the Platoff Chorus.

GEN. PLATOFF

The Eiffel Tower, the building of Parliament in London, the pyramids of Egypt, the tea plantations of Ceylon, the wild beasts of South Africa, the elephants of India, the rice-paddies of Indo-China, the earthquakes of Chili, the skyscrapers of New York, the holy places of Jerusalem, the bananas of Singapore and Java, the tidy streets of town in Holland, the Tunnel of the St. Gothard in Switzerland, the minarets of Turkey, the caves of Madeira, a revolution in Brazil—all this is familiar to the members of the Platoff Chorus, all this has passed before their eyes; for all this documentary films are preserved in the files of the Chorus.

The Chorus has travelled on a total of 107 different ocean liners and visited 67 different countries. On Oct. 8, 1951, the Chorus gave its 5,450th concert, of this number 875 were concerts devoted especially to church music and given at various churches. One such concert was given on Dec. 18, 1934 at the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris before an audience of 10,000, among whom was the Archbishop of Paris, Cardinal Verdier.

Regardless of the place where the Chorus gives its concert, be it the huge auditorium of the Theatre of Colon in Buenos Aires or the famous Carnegie Hall in New York, or a modest hall in a town with the population of 3,000, the Chorus always performs with the same thoroughness. For the Chorus members, there is no such thing as big or little concerts; to them all concerts are equally important.

The Chorus first came to U.S. on Jan. 3, 1939, arriving in Seattle from Honolulu, and during its 13 year stay in this country has given more than 1,600 concerts.

All members of the Chorus are now American citizens; some of them fought during World War II in the ranks of the U.S. Army.

Coggan-Spalek Troth Plighted

Baskets of bronze and yellow mums, and pews marked with tiny white satin tied sprays of mums enhanced St. Andrew's Anglican Church in Okanagan Mission this month for the afternoon wedding uniting Alice Myrtle Spalek and Vaughan Coggan.

Double ring rites were performed for the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spalek of East Kelowna, and the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coggan, Beaverdell, by Rev. J. E. W. Snowden.

In a floor-length gown of lace and billowy nylon net, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The lace bodice was fashioned with a scalloped bateau neckline and long sleeves with lily points. The bouffant skirt of net over taffeta featured insert lace. A seed pearl coronet secured her dainty finger-tip length veil of silk illusion net edged with Chantilly lace. The bride carried long stemmed glitter gold roses and fern.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Victor Hunter was matron of honor, gowned in aqua net and lace in waltz length. A net jacket covered the strapless bodice of finely pleated net, and her shoes and gloves were white. She carried a bouquet of white roses and pink carnations. Mother-of-pearl sequins on pleated taffeta formed her bandeau headdress.

Bridesmaid Miss Gail Webb wore coral net over taffeta, the strapless bodice of taffeta topped with matching net stole. Her pleated mother-of-pearl and taffeta headress matched her gown, and she carried a white rosebud and yellow carnation bouquet.

Groomsmen were John Morrow and Roy Matkovich. The bride's brother William Spalek, and the groom's brother, Denby Coggan were ushers. During the signing of the register Mrs. F. J. Foot played "O Perfect Love" on the organ.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated by the bride's cousin, Alfred Ruf, and topped with an arch of white lily of the valley and white bells with two miniature doves, centred the bride's table.

Mrs. Stephen Stephenson, the bride's aunt, presided and servitors were Mrs. Alfred Ruf and Miss Terry Webb. The bridal toast was made by Mr. Stephenson, with response given by the groom. A telegram from Western Australia was read from the groom's aunt and uncle.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spalek chose a suit of beige and dark brown with white accessories. Her corsage was composed of gold roses and lily of the valley.

A black silk sheath with plaid jacket entone was worn by the groom's mother, with black and white accessories. Her complementing corsage was of pale pink roses.

Before departing on a week's honeymoon motor trip by car to Victoria the bride changed to a black and red wool ensemble, topped with a black duster and accessories. Her corsage was of pale pink carnations.

The young couple have taken up residence in Beaverdell.

Square-Dancers Organize Monday Across The Lake

WESTBANK — One of the first social activities to resume functioning after the long and busy fruit picking and packing season is the very popular square dancing. The first session of the season will be held Monday evening at the Westbank Community Hall at 8 p.m., and well-known caller Ray Fredrickson of Summerland will be in attendance. This evening will be to start a beginners class, so to assist in the organization all those attending are requested to have partners.

Second square-dancing group, last year's beginners and this year's intermediates, will meet at the Lakeview Heights school Wednesday evening, also at 8 p.m. This group, which last year included approximately 24 couples, will continue to be instructed by Mr. Fredrickson. It is through their efforts, while working in conjunction with the local representatives of the Provincial Recreation Commission, that the second group in Westbank is being organized.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Buzzell, Lakeview Heights, were Mr. and Mrs. David Senke of Vancouver. Mr. Buzzell, who is at present employed in Vancouver, was also at home for the holiday weekend.

Miss Marilyn Maddock, first year student at the University of B.C. spent her first holiday weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maddock.

Miss Pamela Howes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Howes, was also at home from UBC at the weekend.

Robin Drought and family travelled to the "Salute to the Hockey" celebration at the Adams River for the weekend.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wakefield were Mrs. James Lawrence and Mrs. Wm. James, both of Abbotsford.

STRONG-WILLED WOMAN — HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Eva Deschner, who rallied from serious illnesses many times in the last two years and told her family she would not die before her 97th birthday, died Wednesday — on her 97th birthday.

"Mother always was a strong-minded woman," said a daughter, Mrs. Julia Gabler.

PEACHLAND

An engagement announced very recently in Victoria, which has created a great deal of interest locally, is that of Mrs. Stella Gummow, whose marriage to Mr. Herbert J. Welch, of Qualicum Beach, V.I. is to take place in November.

This interest is due to the fact that Mrs. Gummow came to Peachland as a bride immediately following the first Great War, and lived here for many years, always taking a keen interest in community affairs, especially the Women's Institute. It was here that she started her career which has terminated in the position she now holds, that of Superintendent of Women's Institutes in the provincial government.

Mrs. Gummow held the office of Reeve of Peachland for a time, during the last war — a distinction held by very few women in Canada.

Now she is on the threshold of another career. Peachland wishes her well.

GLENMORE

Mr. Bernard Moubay of Sorrento spent the Thanksgiving week end with Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Moubay of Glenmore.

Mrs. John Macdonald of Vancouver spent Thanksgiving week end with her father, Mr. Charles Henderson.

IODE Activities Recounted At Recent Meeting

Mrs. Charles Pettman, regent, presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Dr. W. J. Knox Chapter, IODE, on Oct. 14 at the home of Mrs. J. E. Marty.

The acting secretary read a report of the 45th Semi-annual Provincial meeting held at Naino in September. Over 200 chapter members attended. A picture, chosen from a collection painted by T. Fripp and entitled "Pitt River" was presented to Government House, Victoria.

Very full reports on community effort were presented as well as a comprehensive coverage of Empire work.

Plans were made by the local chapter to provide a Christmas gift for each pupil in the two "adopted" schools. It was reported that Mrs. R. P. MacLean had presented the Lottie A. King Memorial gift book to the Kelowna High School. This year the book chosen was the "British Columbia Centennial Anthology."

Mrs. Harold Johnson requested that an eye examination and glasses be authorized for a child of a needy family. She also reported that an overseas food parcel will be sent during October to the usual pensioner in Wales.

Sewing and knitting materials were issued to the members. The finished articles will be sent to Provincial headquarters for distribution.

Mrs. Marty reported that she attended the citizenship ceremonies in the court house in Sept. when nine new Canadians were presented with IODE Canadian Citizenship certificates.

Mrs. D. C. Vivian and several chapter members assisted at the White Canoe Club meeting at the end of September, and will do so again at the November meeting.

An interesting report of UNESF efforts to help children in the underprivileged countries of the world was presented by Mrs. F. K. Parker. A number of chapter members purchased Christmas greeting cards from UNESF to assist in this aid.

It was decided to send a generous donation to the proposed home for elderly ladies to be established in Vancouver by the IODE chapter of British Columbia.

The next chapter meeting will be held on Nov. 18 at the home of Mrs. J. L. Gordon.

HOSPITAL PLAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—David J. McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers of America, said Wednesday he will ask the steel industry next spring to build hospitals for employees. He said he wants the industry to foot the bill with money the corporations contribute toward pensions.

"Things Different Now" Says New Pope's Tailor

ROME (AP)—"Nineteen years ago," said Bonaventura Gammarelli, official purveyor to the Apostolic See, "everybody knew who would be coming out of the conclave as the new pontiff. But now, things are different."

In 1939, it just had to be either Cardinal Pacelli (chosen Pope Pius XII) or Cardinal Maglione, and I tailored the pontifical robes according to their measurements. Today, there are many names. The papal robes must be ready, for their new wearer soon after was on the same table that I Baptism of Jesus, in whom I am well pleased.—Matthew 3:17.

Jesus Came To John The Baptist, Asking To Be Baptized By Him

Christ is baptized by John the Baptist. Scripture—Matthew 3:13-17. Luke 3:15-22. By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

The prophet Isaiah predicted that there would be one to foretell the coming of the Christ, one "crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight."—Matthew 3:3.

John the Baptist was the man who came from the wilderness, where he had been living in solitude preparing for his mission. He must have presented an odd picture as he emerged, dressed in camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins; and his meat was locusts and wild honey.—Matthew 3:4.

John went to Jerusalem and Judea and all the region about Jordan and baptized the people in Jordan who confessed their sins. Many Pharisees and Sadducees came to be baptized, and he called them the harsh name of vipers. He asked them who had warned them to flee from the wrath to come, saying, "Bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance." Baptism alone would not save any unless they foresaw their evil ways and lived as God would have them live.—Matt. 3:5-8.

He also said, "I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance; but He that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear: He will baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire."—Matthew 3:11.

Jesus came from Galilee to Jordan to be baptized by John, who at first refused to baptize Him, saying, "I have need to be baptized of Thee, and comest Thou to me?"

But Jesus said, "Suffer it to be so now; for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness." Then John baptized Him.

"And Jesus, when He was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon Him: and lo, a voice from heaven, saying, This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."—Matthew 3:13-17.

Witnesses Arrested In Communist China

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio reported today the arrest in Shanghai of five Jehovah's Witnesses and banning of the religious sect.

The five—two Britons and three Chinese—were accused of trying to wreck China's "socialist construction."

The charge was denied in New York by the head of the sect.

tailored the robes for our late pope in 1939."

SINCE 1798

The Gammarellis have been tailors for the princes of the church since 1798. Beside the wide shelves in his workshop, filled to capacity with bales of precious cloth and silk, hang pictures of various pontiffs, awarding a Gammarelli the title of official purveyor.

Gammarelli does not like to tell the names of the many prelates among his customers. But it is known they include Giovanni Battista Montini, the Archbishop of Milan.

"We are quite busy," Gammarelli said, playing nervously with a yellow tape measure. "The conclave is only a week from next Saturday and there are many pieces to be made."

The robes will be placed in the sacristy of the Sixtine Chapel so the new pontiff can be dressed immediately.

Catholic Women's League Chooses Grace Caughlin

VANCOUVER (CP)—Miss Grace L. Caughlin of Woodstock, N.B., was elected president of the Catholic Women's League of Canada at Wednesday's closing session of the league's 38th annual convention.

CHURCH ROUNDS

Rev. Peter Penner, noted artist-lecturer will conduct all three services at the Peoples' Mission on Sunday.

Mr. Penner's unusual lectures are accompanied by sound and lighting effects.

These illustrated lessons have been given in churches all over the continent and have won Mr. Penner much praise from congregations and ministers alike.

Services will be held at 9:45 and 11 a.m. and 7:15 p.m.

Plans are under way for a three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses at Summerland, October 17, 18 and 19. Mr. William Boyko, presiding minister here expects almost the total congregation from Kelowna to be in attendance for the full three days.

The convention highlight will be at 3 p.m. Sunday, when G. H. Saltmarsh will speak at the Summerland High School auditorium. He will present the public discourse "The Watch Tower Society and God's Purpose."

Mrs. W. S. Watson, provincial president of the Western Christian Temperance Union, will speak in the ladies' parlour at the First United Church on Tuesday, October 21, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Watson has recently returned from the Eastern United States, where she attended the American Institute of Scientific Studies at American University of Washington, D.C.

The annual meeting of the sixth Kelowna Cubs will take place in the St. Paul's United Church hall on Monday, October 20, at 8 p.m. Parents and all interested parties are invited to attend.

A special Thanksgiving program will be staged by the children of the South Kelowna Christian Church at this Sunday's service at the community hall.

Rev. Cross returned missionary from Trinidad will be the featured speaker at the service at 8 p.m.

The British and Foreign Bible Society will hold their rally at the Grace Baptist Church at 9 p.m. on Sunday, October 19.

Rev. Raymond Tingley will be the speaker at the service, and will show a number of films.

"Friendly Relationship" With Doukhobors Urged

NELSON (CP)—A United Church minister who has been working for two years among Orthodox and Sons of Freedom Doukhobors said here the aim of the church is to "build a friendly relationship" with them.

Rev. T. M. Karpoff, head of the Columbia mission field at Genelle, 20 miles southwest of here, was appointed by the United Church to establish a close contact with the Doukhobors in British Columbia's West Kootenay area. He made the statement in a report to the fall sessions of the West Kootenay presbytery.

Mr. Karpoff said about three-quarters of his time is spent mingling with Doukhobors in their own environments.

"I visit their meetings and their homes, observing them and speaking to them in Russian," Mr. Karpoff said.

"My task is to show them, by trying to understand them, that ours is a friendly church."

Mr. Karpoff hopes this endeavor may be setting an example for other denominations.

He declined to comment on the controversial Sons of Freedom sect, saying, "I am acquainted with their problems, but I do not take sides."

Rev. F. H. Birdsall, president of the B.C. Conference, led the devotions at the three-day conference of ministers and lay delegates from the 14 pastoral

Catholic Women's League Chooses Grace Caughlin

VANCOUVER (CP)—Miss Grace L. Caughlin of Woodstock, N.B., was elected president of the Catholic Women's League of Canada at Wednesday's closing session of the league's 38th annual convention.

The convention here Wednesday recommended federal payments for children of immigrant families be administered by the family allowance department.

Payments, now administered by the immigration department, provide $5 a month for each child under 16 years during the family's first year of residence in Canada.

Delegates said "certain numbers of immigrants confuse the plan with the statutory family allowance, with the result that when family assistance terminates many immigrants do not apply for family allowances promptly. Since retroactive payments are not made by the family allowance administration, the families concerned may sometimes lose out for an extended period of time."

A study by social action groups of existing housing needs and legislation was urged by the convention.

MUST RETURN TO JAIL

NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello must surrender next Tuesday and resume his five-year prison term for evasion of federal income taxes. Costello, 67, had served nearly 11 months in prison when he was released on bail March 11, 1957, to appeal the sentence. Last Monday the U.S. Supreme Court refused to consider the appeal.

HEADED INDIANS

MONTREAL (CP)—Funeral service was held today on the nearby Caughnawaga Indian reservation for Chief Joseph A. Beauvais, 56, who died Monday. Born on the reservation, he served as chief from 1951 to 1955 and at one time was secretary of the North American Indian Brotherhood.

Ontario's Government Studies Breath Analysis Legislation

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government is considering legislation which would make breath analysis tests compulsory for all persons suspected of drunk and impaired driving, it was reported today.

The Supreme Court of Canada recently upheld legislation passed by Saskatchewan where drivers risk losing their licenses if they refuse to take a breath analysis test.

Three Ontario government departments — transport, highways and the attorney-general's — are reported discussing possible legislation.

PRAIRIE OFFICER HEADS CHAPLAINS

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Lt.-Col. James P. Browne, MC, 50, of Winnipeg as deputy chaplain-general Protestant of the Canadian Army and his promotion to the rank of colonel was announced today.

Col. Browne, who joined the Canadian Chaplain Service in 1946, previously was deputy director of Chaplain Services Protestant at army headquarters.

Ontario Minister Named Moderator

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Rev. J. M. Ritchie, minister of the Almonte, Ont., Presbyterian Church was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Montreal and Ottawa Synod at a meeting here.

The former Navy padre succeeds Rev. J. D. Wilkie, of Stanley Church in Montreal.

Mr. Ritchie, born in Francis, Sask., is a son of Rev. David Ritchie, who was a Toronto professional golfer before entering the ministry. He began his ministry at Nelson, B. C. in 1936.

Westbank Nurse Recounts Experiences In Australia

By DOROTHY GELLATLY
(First of two articles)

Designating as "bad ambassadors" those who visit another country in a spirit of carping criticism, instead of to observe and with a desire to learn, Miss Betty Davidson, R.N., who has just returned from a sojourn of 18 months in Australia, tells of one particular incident wherein this attitude struck an unpleasant note.

A graduate of St. Paul's Hospital School of Nursing in Vancouver, Betty is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan H. Davidson, of Westbank, and her trip to the antipodes took her not only to the continent of Australia, but to Tasmania as well. She also visited Auckland, N.Z., the Fiji Islands and Hawaii.

Unfortunately, the attitude of unkind criticism such as Betty saw and heard—while in Queensland, is not too rare. While in a Brisbane restaurant she overheard a man exclaim that though Queensland might raise the best beef in the world, it certainly wasn't served there. Intimating that no matter how expensive, he wanted his steak served in such a way, he wanted more.

At which point Betty, ashamed of her obviously fellow-countryman, and not daring to glance in his direction lest she might be recognized by him, slunk out of the restaurant. Nor did she utter a word as she settled her bill for fear the cashier should recognize her for another "American"—as Canadians are generally classed "down under."

Another error in eating habits occurred when she ordered a breakfast of bacon and eggs. Told that such a dish was not served at that time of day, her natural reaction that she was too late—it was 10 a.m.—turned out to be wrong. She was too early. Apparently in that part of the country bacon and eggs, plus potatoes, salad, etc., is a luncheon dish.

Betty contented herself with tea and toast.

FOUR WINTERS, ONE SUMMER

Sailing aboard the "Orion" in April of last year, following our own winter, our traveller landed in Sydney three weeks later—at the approach of winter in the southern hemisphere. And, still coming aboard the "Lakeland" to land in Vancouver at the end of last month, with winter just around the corner, means that by next spring Betty will have experienced two winters, one summer and another two winters in succession in little more than two years!

On board ship she discovered anew how small is our world; minister boy, had worked on the Pentown, while the wireless operator had picked apples in the Okanagan.

Speaking of apples, while in Tasmania, Betty had the opportunity of visiting a fruit-packing plant, and en route, happened to mention that she had packed apples in the Okanagan during high-school days. On learning that she had packed as many as 100 boxes a day, the driver of their car stared at her in disbelief. Later, observing the system used in that particular packinghouse, and the lack of size in the apples—resembling Wine-saps—being packed that day, Betty decided that there was ground for her escort's doubt. While the grader was of the rotary bin type, the packers, all of whom were male, seemed to lack the streamlined operation in packing and wrapping that is known here. The buggies, without wheels, seemed to be too low, while each box had to be lifted to the gravity. Besides which, the actual wrapping and handling of the apples had not the appearance of ease seen in this part of the world.

She did not notice that bins were used, the fruit seemed to be dumped from boxes, and her impression was that the packers worked by the hour. Delicious apples are grown in Tasmania, and she heard considerable talk of a variety called "Granny Smith" which seemed a favorite. At Hobart, she saw three ships loading cargoes of apples for Britain.

NURSED "OUT-BACK"

During her stay Betty nursed in three hospitals, and one shot in the movie films she took show her as a nursing sister in her veil. "Out-back," at Brewarrina, she nursed for several months, during which she paid a visit to a small 1,800 acre station or sheep ranch. Grain is the main crop farther south and cattle are raised to the north.

While at Brewarrina she indulged in wild pig hunting, managing to hit one, though she claims it would be difficult to miss doing so. Both emus and kangaroos are pests, and regular kangaroo hunters kill for the bounty as do our own cougar hunters. Emus are killed and the carcasses used for dragging in fox hunting at night.

Snakes are a menace, especially in Queensland, where there are several particularly venomous sorts. Antidotes, or serum, for snake-bite, are stocked by all hospitals.

In Sydney she nursed in the Eastern Suburbs General for six months—a modern 120-bed hospital. Taken over during the war by U.S. troops as a casualty and children's depot, it consists of pre-fab buildings in army hut style. In Queensland she nursed at Ipswich.

PENAL COLONIES
At Port Arthur in Tasmania, Betty saw remains of the penal institutions or settlements, and told of a church with 13 spires built by the convicts but never consecrated. The fact that a prisoner hung himself there may have had something to do with it. Transportation of convicts from the Old Country, often for the most minor of crimes, was general from 1788 to about 1850, when pressure of public opinion gradually brought it to an end.

A term of derision still in use in Australia for a "green" Englishman is Pommey—the words "Prisoner of Mother England."

IN ORBIT

By DOROTHY GELLATLY
For some time I've been intending proposing a grateful vote of thanks to the Daily Courier for its prominent display of telephone number 4445 at the head of its classified page.

I used to find it practically impossible to find the Courier's phone number even in the telephone directory. If I looked under one letter of the alphabet it was sure to be under another; in fact, there were times when I decided it wasn't under either the "K's", the "C's" or the "S's". Talk about elusive! But now all one need do is turn to the classified page, and there it is in huge black type.

And now that I've paved the way with a pat on the back, so to speak, I wonder if I dare utter criticism? It concerns a maybe I'd better whisper this... radio... and probably is not really the direct concern of the Courier at all. Still, I think that newspaper could do something about it.

This is the way one Courier subscriber put it, "We are up taking the Vancouver paper in favor of supporting our own Daily, and one of my disappointments is that the local newspaper publishes only TV programs. We could always find schedules of radio programs in either the Sun or Province."

How about it, Press — and MAIN STREET BRIGHTER

"All lit up like a Christmas tree!" was the comment last weekend when two new neon signs appeared on Westbank's Main Street, their vivid colors reflected in the wet, glistening pavement of Highway 97.

Westbank Pharmacy, in its new location, has a prominent sign that stands out clearly. Added to this, the brand new sign advertising the newly-opened "Tom's Lunch"; the orange and blue of neon signs across the road — plus street lights and a lighted post office illuminate that block almost brilliantly.

They make an evening stroll to the end of the street to post letters or garner mail, or perhaps to enjoy a cup of coffee, quite a lightsome affair. Besides which, since the new post office building was opened, bookholders no longer have to grope in the dark of early morning to find their particular post-office box.

Early this year Westbank's post office became the fourth in B.C. to provide access from outside to the rows of mail boxes. The dusk postmaster George Holmes or Mrs. Holmes switches on a light to illuminate those boxes, and this light remains on for the convenience of even the latest home-comer.

The only drawback now is the increasingly obvious fact that crossing the highway to reach the post office is becoming constantly more hazardous. Maybe a painted cross-walk would help, at the corner of 2nd, and Main, say. Not at the post office corner, which is a five-road intersection.

Before July 19 a lull in traffic between ferries was the rule; but since the bridge was opened there just doesn't seem to be any lull, as anyone living on Highway 97 knows!

If the increase in traffic since the bridge opened is any indication of what next summer — and the next — and so ad infinitum — is going to be, Westbank's Main Street will need flasher lights at least, before long, especially at each end of the business section of the highway.

East Colleges Stage War

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—Thirteen Ontario Agricultural College students who made a kidnap raid on rival Waterloo College students Tuesday have been fined $1,000 by OAC and suspended from classes.

Dean Ian White of Guelph said today the suspension will last until the fine is paid.

Fifty OAC students took part in the raid, the latest incident in a series of incidents between the two colleges. It was reported the rear door of a Waterloo home was broken in an attempt to kidnap two students boarding there.

In others, students have been kidnapped and had their heads shaved and the letters OAC were burned into the turf of the Waterloo College's football stadium.

Hula Hooping Hits Mexicans Only They Call It Ula Ula

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The hula hoop has hit Mexico. Called the Ula Ula it first went on sale Oct. 1 for 12½ pesos, or $1. Within a few days it had the city jumping on a bumping.

This started when Morris Caldwell, a retired American living in Mexico, took a summer vacation in California.

He saw the hula hoops around San Gabriel and thought they might click in Mexico. On his return, he and a friend, Henry William Jones, went into partnership. Copying the name Ula Ula, they began making hoops in Mexico.

Woolworth was the first customer, buying 5,000 to start with. Its two Mexico City outlets sold about 20 on a Wednesday, about 40 Thursday.

MOVIE COLUMN

Gloria Swanson Claims Hollywood Stars Wasted

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is Hollywood wasting its star power? Gloria Swanson thinks so, and she isn't shy about saying it.

"Sure, I'd like to make pictures," she says. "But what can I do—hit the producers over the head and tell them they should hire me?"

She isn't the only one. Look at the famous names who have scarcely made a movie in recent years:

Greer Garson, Irene Dunne, Claudette Colbert, Bette Davis, Jean Arthur, Ginger Rogers, Ida Lupino, Jane Wyman, Loretta Young, Joan Crawford, Katharine Hepburn, Barbara Stanwyck, Betty Grable, Paulette Goddard, Ann Sheridan, Betty Hutton.

GONE INTO TV
All of them have attracted millions of dollars into theatre box offices. Many of them have gone into television rather than wait for the studios to come up with good film roles.

Yet, many of the male stars with whom they starred a decade or more ago are still in heavy demand.

"It's all wrong," said Miss Swanson. "Many of those male stars are pushing 60, yet they are playing love scenes with girls who are 19 and 20."

"The situation is the fault of the producers. Many of them are old men who remarried young wives. They think that is a normal way of life."

"But they are making a mistake. They have alienated a large portion of the movie-going public. I found this out when I made tours of the country for Sunset Boulevard."

"Nowadays, the movies have changed so you see only older men playing love scenes with young girls. A mature woman cannot identify herself with situation. So the movies have lost a large segment of the audience: The women who made the industry a success."

55 Cardinals Face Possibility Of Never Returning Home

VATICAN CITY (CP)—Each of the non-Italian cardinals coming here for the papal election faces the possibility of never seeing his homeland again.

They take that risk in entering the secret conclave that will elect the new Pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

All Cardinals, including two Canadians, James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto and Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal—are possible candidates for the high office.

A pontiff could leave the conclave in a Waterloo home, but the Pope does not leave his see as bishop of Rome except to go to the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo.

Pope Pius XII visited a Vat-can broadcasting station about 20 miles outside Rome. That was the longest trip he made after his election to the papacy in 1959.

This year pressure was exerted by some church circles, especially in France, to have the Pope go to Lourdes for the centenary of the shrine there to the Virgin Mary. But the Pope sent a delegate.

King's Royalite Service Station Opens In Rapidly-Expanding Area

Another spanking new service station is about to open in a rapidly-expanding city area. King's Royalite Service, located at the intersection of Harvey Avenue and the Vernon Road today is holding a gala opening and some elaborate prizes will be given away to celebrate the event.

Proprietor of Orchard City Motors, King Neil is no stranger to Kelowna. With an eye to the future, the genial garage owner chose the Pridham Estate for his new venture.

And he has put an experienced man in charge of the new service station outlet. Victor Willms, a Kelowna resident for the past 11 years, will manage the new station.

PRIZES EVERY HOUR

"Prizes every hour" was King's comment this morning, as he prepared for the official opening at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

And when King says prizes, he literally means prizes. They include electric toasters, deep fryers, steam irons, hand mixers, soda syphons, tires, batteries, free grease jobs and gasoline, and free car wash jobs. For the kiddies, they will receive suckers and balloons, compliments of Royalite. The oil company will also give away sponges and windshield frost scrapers to every customer.

Before coming to Kelowna in 1956 to take over Orchard City Motors, King Neil was sales manager for Empire Motors, a Vancouver firm owned by his father, Rupert Neil, formerly of Sherbrooke, Que.

In 1950 when Empire Motors was sold to an American concern, King became manager of the Schultz Timber Co., and later was appointed general manager of Mount Baker Plywoods, a large New Westminster firm.

KING NEIL

Victor Willms Is New Manager Of King's Royalite Station

Victor Willms, a Kelowna resident for 11 years, will manage the new King's Royalite Service, at the junction of Harvey and the Vernon road.

Vic has had wide experience in service station field, having been employed for some time at the Sunshine Service Station on Bernard Avenue.

King Neil, owner of the station has expressed confidence in Vic's ability stating he is "the best qualified service station man in Kelowna."

Other staff members at the station will be Bill Newman, and John Tatar, both of Kelowna. These three men bring the total staff of Mr. Neil's organization to 25, an increase of eight over the original complement of 17, in 1956.

Vic and his wife, the former Jaunita Priest, of this city, have two young sons, Ron and Robert. Because of the ideal location, at the important highway junction, and in the new Pridham development, Vic and his staff are looking forward to the new venture.

King Neil is not without "book learning" having obtained his Bachelor of Commerce degree at University of British Columbia. His wife, Valerie, also attended UBC.

FLYING INSTRUCTOR

After a stint as a flying instructor at RCAF Station Macleod, King went overseas where he saw active service.

The Neils are active in community affairs, Mrs. Neil being a member of the hospital women's auxiliary. King is a Rotarian; a director of the local Boy Scout Association; an ex-member of the Kelowna Packer executive, and a current director of the Minor Hockey League.

King, his wife, Valerie and their five children—Deborah, Matthew, Terrance, Rupert and Robbie live at 368 Cadder Avenue.

Expresses Hope Libby Dam Dispute Will Come To End

By JOHN KAMPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the International Joint Commission voiced hope today the coming year will bring an end to a dispute between the United States and Canada over the proposed Libby Dam.

Commissioner Eugene W. Webber cited encouraging prospects in a letter to Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem-Mont.), who had urged the commission to expedite action on a Libby Dam application.

The dam, a major unit in the U.S. Army Engineer Corps' main control plan for the Columbia River and its tributaries, has been authorized by Congress. But it cannot be built without approval of the IJC because it would flood land north of the border. IJC, set up to handle such disputes, is comprised of Canadian and United States sections.

A dam to divert Canadian headwaters of the Kootenai has been proposed in Canada. Some Americans consider this a lever in Libby Dam negotiations. Weber, member of the U.S. section of the IJC, said that during the last year "there have been a number of developments which are encouraging."

"First of these," he wrote, "is the comprehensive examination of the principal projects, existing and potential, in the Columbia River basin which the commission and its advisers made in July."

"As a result, we believe that the mutual understanding of interests in both Canada and the United States of the various projects and the problems associated with their development has been greatly improved."

Weber added: "We believe the Canadian section of the commission and Canadian officials... are appreciative of the merits of the Libby project as compared with other alternatives, particularly possible unilateral action by Canada to divert the Kootenai in such a way as to preclude the feasibility of constructing Libby."

"It appears that, when the engineering and factual data are placed on the table through the medium of joint and unilateral studies, our Canadian colleagues will be willing to consider the Libby project application without further delay."

Reds Pledge Yugo Wheat

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia has renewed a Soviet pledge to send wheat to Yugoslavia and accused Yugoslav newspapers of having "unscrupulously misled" their readers about the wheat deliveries.

The newspaper, quoted by Tass news agency, complained that Yugoslav newspapers were concealing the truth about Soviet wheat deliveries. It said a Yugoslav delegation now is in Moscow for talks on wheat deliveries and that official Yugoslav representatives had declared publicly that wheat would be delivered from the Soviet Union. But this had not been published in Yugoslav newspapers.

Informed sources in Belgrade said Sept. 25 that Russia had decided to give Yugoslavia 200,000 tons of wheat after originally cancelling arrangements to supply the grain.

The reported contact cancellation followed an ideological rift between the two countries because of President Tito's refusal to follow the Moscow - dictated Communist line.

Automation Mating Set

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The first mating by automation takes place Saturday when Shirley Saunders marries Bob Karel at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood. The cupid in this match was an electronic brain called Univac. For months, the People Are Funny television show has been trying to make a romantic match by means of the machine.

It works this way: A contestant fills out a form detailing what he or she seeks in the ideal mate, plus his or her own qualifications. All this is fed into Univac, which comes up with the name of another contestant who seems a likely mate.

Unfortunately for the show, most of the chosen couples ended up in a state of indifference. Some openly detested each other.

But not Shirley and Bob. With them, it was love at first sight.

"We were on the show for weeks together," Bob reported in a pre-marital interview. "We were formally engaged before that time was up."

TB Patients

Stage Parties

HAILEYBURY, Ont. (CP) - A doctor says tubercular patients stage wild drunken parties every Saturday night in a sanatorium in this community 300 miles north of Toronto.

Dr. G. Scott Wallace of nearby New Liskeard said patients get liquor smuggled into them or go out to liquor stores to buy it.

"Teen-aged patients have been rolling around the corridors drunk as lords and there is nothing anybody can do about it," he added.

Dr. W. J. Houghtling, superintendent of St. Mary's on the Lake Sanatorium, conceded some patients have been drunk but said such instances are mostly around Christmas and New Year's.

He said provincial legislation does not give sufficient power to sanatorium authorities or police to cope with drunkenness among patients. Authorities could not eject TB patients and police could not control them because sanatoria were considered "private places."

HARD OF HEARING? THINK BEFORE YOU BUY

IMPAIRED HEARING CAN'T BE SOLVED, CORRECTED, NOR OVERCOME BY SIMPLY BUYING A HEARING INSTRUMENT

ALWAYS CONSIDER

Your HEARING AID CONSULTANT has to service you constantly to give you the satisfaction you demand from your instrument much as your doctor treats you until his services are no longer required.

Your HEARING AID CONSULTANT has, therefore, to be as close to you as your telephone and available when you actually need him.

If you require a HEARING AID from anyone who can only give you personal service once or twice a year, you will quite naturally become dissatisfied and regret the purchase. You won't enjoy mulling your instrument miles away or the service it needs, waiting weeks for its return. You can rely on his quick service WITHOUT ANY EXPENDITURES ON YOUR PART, wherever you may live in BRITISH COLUMBIA.

AND: Before you buy any HEARING AID, TRY FIRST THE OTARION LISTENER, THE FIRST AND ORIGINAL, EYE-GLASS HEARING AID in the world; recommended by more prominent people in America than any other make in existence.</

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

Some restrictive influences now call for tact and diplomacy in dealing with others; unusual calmness in making decisions. Don't take anything for granted and do not be glib if "rosy" propositions come your way.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you are currently in an excellent cycle for revitalizing all of your affairs. Financial matters are under highly generous aspects, as are job prospects and matters connected with your private life. The next three weeks should prove unusually stimulating in all respects if, of course, you take advantage of all opportunities that present themselves.

These good influences will be repeated in mid-1959, but how much progress you make at that time will depend to a large extent on what you accomplish NOW. So get busy! Capitalize on all your skills and talents, bring yourself to the attention of those who are in a position to appreciate them, try out new and original ideas. In other words, use every bit of initiative and enterprise at your command. This is no time to "sit back and wait."

A child born on this day, despite a tendency toward being opinionative at times, will be, at heart, warm, friendly and most understanding of his fellowmen.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

(Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

QUIZ

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West North East South

1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠ 4 ♠

What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠A84 ♥QJ93 ♦K63 ♣KJ7

2. ♠KQJ972 ♥A862 ♦Q6 ♣Q

3. ♠Q765 ♥7 ♦A873 ♣AJ98

4. ♠AJ984 ♥♦♦♦ ♣KJ912

1. Three notrump. There should be no doubt that this hand has to be played at game. Probably the easiest game to make lies in no-trump. Partner's overall in the two levels implies a hand of opening bid proportions and a suit of sufficient solidity and length to withstand a possible business double by East.

Facing such a hand we have an opening bid of our own. It is probably we will win six diamond tricks, or at least five, and the balance of the nine tricks figure to be made up by our other high cards as well as partner's side cards. To bid only two notrump, or simply raise North to three diamonds, would show gross disrespect for partner's bid.

2. Three spades. Again homage must be paid to partner's overall. Although we have only 12 high card points, our distribution is decidedly attractive. By jumping to three spades we show a strong interest in game. If we were to say only two spades, partner could justifiably read the bid as merely a competitive one directed at the fight for a part score.

It is quite likely partner has some support for spades. Since he is marked to be short of hearts — in view of our heart length, West's heart bid, and East's raise — the chances are he has several spades. An alternate bid over two hearts is to jump directly to four spades.

3. Four diamonds. For preemptive purposes, as well as to show legitimate interest in reaching a game, a jump raise is in order. Since there is no certainty that eleven tricks can be made, partner is given the option of continuing or not, depending on how good his overall was. The important point is that a three diamond bid should not be made, since it may be misinterpreted as only a competitive bid.

4. Three hearts. The purpose of the cuebid is to assure that game will be reached, and at the same time to discover if a better trump suit can be found. Rather than guess at this point whether North can support spades or clubs, we push the selection of the trump suit over to partner. If he rebids diamonds, well and good, since we have adequate support. If he names either spades or clubs, we contract for game in that suit.

B.C. Government Employees Not Committed To Socialists

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Government Employees Association says it is in no way committed to support the CCF party. The subject arose when the BCGEA convention rejected the resolution expressing concern over labor's political actions, and passed another reaffirming its support for affiliation with organized labor.

E. P. O'Connor, association general secretary, said his group "was not committed to support any political party . . . in fact, our constitution forbids any political action by the association as such."

Mr. O'Connor, a vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said that even the congress is not committed to any political party, at least until after the next CLC convention in 1960.

HEALTH COLUMN

Diagnosis, Treatment Of Prostatic Cancer

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Like so many diseases, cancer of the prostate is painless in the initial stages.

Since it produces no early symptoms, how can you stop its progress before it has advanced too far?

Early therapy, of course, depends upon early diagnosis. And the best way to detect prostatic cancer before it produces symptoms is by a routine rectal examination. This is the easiest, the quickest and the most direct method of finding cancer of the prostate.

FOLLOW-UP MEASURES

If the physician finds anything suspicious during the routine examination, he can order an X-ray study, cystoscopic examination, a study of the prostatic secretion and other procedures which will provide a clinical diagnosis.

Generally simple X-rays are used to exclude any other disease conditions besides cancer. While cystoscopic examination will show the extent of the cancer, many urologists prefer against it because of the possible danger of disseminating the malignant cells.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE

The only method of obtaining conclusive evidence of carcinoma of the prostate is by histologic examination. Most doctors will recommend that a biopsy be performed on any suspected area.

In uncomplicated cases, there may be such usually overlooked symptoms as frequency and urgency. Maybe there will be anemia as a result of an invasion of the bone marrow, bone pain, and occasional spontaneous fractures which are preceded only by pain.

Sometimes the patients are treated by estrogens administered orally. In some cases, radical surgery is necessary.

LIFETIME ROUTINE

Some doctors recommend that when estrogens are used they should be continued for life. The surgical technique often is to remove as much of the lesion as possible and then to use radioactive gold to infiltrate the rest of the lesion and lymphatics.

More recently, another technique has been to submit extensive local lesions to massive doses of radioactive gold by infiltrating it thoroughly into the gland with multiple needles.

This procedure causes no damage to surrounding organs and generally results in a shorter period of hospitalization.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Q.—J.K. What causes the feet to burn and what can be done for this condition?

A. Burning feet may be due to a number of different conditions, such as ringworm, excessive perspiration, various skin conditions, and certain conditions affecting the nerves of the feet.

You should have a thorough examination to find the cause, so that it may be removed.

Customer Is King Declares Canadian Board Of Trade

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

MONTREAL (CP)—The customer is king of the competitive enterprise system, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce says in effect in its declaration of policy.

While policy resolutions on scores of subjects were approved at the closing business session of the three-day annual meeting, one on "freedom of enterprise" expresses the core of chamber thinking.

This year the traditional "freedom of enterprise" declaration was redone to put the customer in the key position. It says, in part:

"The basic aim of public policy should be the maintenance of personal freedom. In this atmosphere the customer is free to make his own choice as to how, when or where he will spend his income. The Canadian people can rightly judge what is in their own interest."

The chamber goes on to say that it is not only concerned that freedom may be impaired or lost from without but also by lethargy or encroachments and attacks or ignorance from within.

"The chamber is opposed to all state interventions and controls beyond those clearly necessary to protect some accurately defined public interest.

"Once business, or the people in general, believe they can turn to government in every difficulty, the springs of initiative and self-reliance will run dry."

The Earl of Home—British secretary of state for Commonwealth relations—said in an address that perhaps for the first time since the war, Britain has been able to "lead from strength" at the recent Commonwealth trade and economic conference.

"With the pound sterling strong," he said, "we were able to propose a wide liberalization of trade with the dollar area."

Britain, he said, now is equipped to lead the world in expansion based upon the exploitation of atomic power.

British Political Oratory Hints Opponents Belong In Hades

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The oratory that comes out of the annual conference of the British party conveys the impression that Britain's two major contestants in the next general election are as sharply divided as the powers of light and the powers of darkness.

A cynic or a Liberal party supporter would retort that there is no difference at all between the two except in their choice of cliches.

With barely 18 months left before the constitutional limit on the life of a parliament expires, both the Conservative and Labor parties have taken pains in their recent deliberations to knit up the issues that distinguish them from their opponents. Some of them are questionable but they offer a few valid choices to the voter.

Time and political realities have eroded the traditional picture of the Conservative as the defender of capitalist free enterprise and individual freedom, arrayed against Labor's champions of all-out socialism, public ownership and the welfare state.

TREND OF TIMES

A few rank-and-file delegates at both conferences tried to woo their leadership back to chapter and verse of the old philosophies. But the men who face the responsibilities of government when their party is in power knew better. Policy statements issued from both camps gave little more than lip service to the party's cherished beliefs.

Any Conservative without shouting distance of a place in the government knows the welfare state has come to Britain to stay and that the railways, coal mines and medical services will remain nationalized during his lifetime. The effects of two world wars have seen to that.

Similarly, Labor's policy-makers know that if they try to win elections by preaching socialist theory to the unconverted they will spend the rest of their days in the political wilderness. They are justly accused by party extremists of going to considerable trouble to prove that they can do a better job of running a capitalist system.

Despite their best efforts, the two parties have found themselves at differing points on points of detail in such fields as agriculture, trade, defence, national health, commonwealth relations, colonial policy, pensions, unemployment and crime. There are occasional disagreements on priority or method but the broad principles are the same.

DIFFER ON SCHOOLS

The major areas in which their policies are basically in dispute are education, housing and economic and foreign affairs. Here a sharp distinction can be drawn between Conservative and Labor thinking.

At Blackpool, the Conservatives stood firmly committed to a system of selective education, segregating the more promising students in grammar schools, which prepare them for university courses, and sending the less gifted to secondary schools that offer little better than vocational training.

At Scarborough, Labor offered the alternative of a comprehensive secondary school system that would permit every student to progress according to his ability. The party would abolish the present 11-plus examination, written by children when they pass their 11th birthday, which determines their educational future.

Even here, both parties showed signs of compromise. Education Minister Geoffrey Lloyd told the Conservatives he is willing to consider modifications of the 11-plus system permitting municipal authorities to work out their own way of selecting grammar school candidates. And Labor's leaders firmly suppressed the doctrinaire move to abolish fee-paying public and separate schools as "citadels of privilege."

HOME OWNERSHIP

A similar divergence was seen in housing proposals. The Conservatives are moving towards a policy of helping more Britons acquire their own homes. Labor favors acquisition of more housing by municipal authorities to be rented at a low rate with the assistance of a government subsidy.

The major economic dispute centres on Labor's insistence on nationalization of steel and road transport. Both were nationalized by the last Labor government and returned to private ownership when the Conservatives took over in 1951. Prime Minister Macmillan is determined to leave things as they are. Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskill is equally firm in his promise to take them over again. Labor also wants to move more vigorously to expand Britain's productive capacity, accusing the government of a policy of "stagflation." Derick Heathcoat-Amory, the chancellor of the exchequer, prefers to limit industrial expansion to a degree that can be safely undertaken without risking inflation.

On the other hand, Labor's shadow chancellor, Harold Wilson, has denounced the government's cautious moves in the direction of making the pound convertible on world exchange markets. Wilson argues that such a move would leave Britain defenceless in the event of a dollar crisis.

The parties are sharply at odds on a number of aspects of foreign policy. Labor has denounced the government's influence through the 1958 Suez crisis for its handling of Middle Eastern affairs, arguing that Britain should come to terms with Arab nationalism and stop attempting to deal with it through use of force.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd argued at Blackpool that Gaitskill had encouraged the Communists to use force against Queen Elizabeth II and that the British government should not be misled by the Communists into settling the dispute through private talks between the United Nations and backing Chi-lween Lloyd and U.S. authorities,

NEW-STYLE TRANSPORTATION FOR ARMY PERSONNEL

This is the U.S. army's new wingless ground-air vehicle, the VZ-8P. It is hovering off the ground a few feet after it had made its first flight. The "sky-car" is claimed to be the first vehicle to achieve both vertical lift and forward flight with two small horizontal rotor props contained within the body structure.

GREEN THUMBS HELP

Judicious Use Of Trellis Can Improve Garden Look

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — You don't need a green thumb to set a judicious garden around your house, but it helps, says Helen M. Kippax.

Miss Kippax is a landscape architect, who will design not only a garden but also terraces and patios to suit a house, its occupants and its surroundings.

She is also qualified to design parks, housing developments, and grounds for public buildings.

SOME HINTS

She offers these hints on gardening:

If you don't like gardening, don't go for it; you can have a spacious paved area with strategically-placed flower beds that can be kept immaculate with little care.

If your garden is big enough, it can be divided into sections, some (visible from the house) to be beautifully kept. Others (not to be shown to visitors) won't need such detailed care.

When a garden or lawn has characterless slopes, it is better (and eventually cheaper) to build a retaining wall than try to cope with soil which washes away in rain or try to wrestle a lawn mower along a steep embankment.

If you are moving into a new house, make sure the builder has saved the topsoil—four inches is the absolute minimum even for a lawn.

FENCE VARIETY

You can have fun with fences whether surrounding the house or dividing sections of your garden. You can have a rose-covered trellis, a woven fence, slatted fences where different lengths of wood make a design—or you can lay a hedge which requires more care.

And keep an eye on traffic in the garden. Lay a pathway or a patio where the garden gets a lot of use.

Kitchen gardens need not be dull. Pathways can be lined with flowers, and it is a good idea to grow flowers here specially for cutting, because showy flowerbeds will soon look drab if they are denuded to provide flowers for the house.

OVER-ALL PLAN

"It is a great help when building architect and landscaper can work together," said Miss Kippax. "We get plans which show the layout and contours of the grounds, and we can utilize or modify its natural features."

She says she tries to provide a good view from all important windows of the house. "The kitchen window must have a good view too, because that is where housewives spend much of their time."

The ability of the owners to take care of the garden must be taken into account. "It's almost impossible to get gardeners these days."

Garden layout is changing as much as the design of houses, says Miss Kippax.

"Gardens are less formal and they follow more flowing lines today," she said.

MASS FOR POPE

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's Roman Catholic Church was crowded today for a special mass for Pope Pius XII.

The mass was celebrated for the benefit of diplomats from nations which maintain relations with the Vatican but many Russian Catholics also attended.

FUN IN THE NEWS

DENVER (AP)—Tree trimmer Ernest Borquez, 27, climbed confidently out on the limb, attached his safety belt and began sawing away.

When the limb fell, so did Borquez. He was on the wrong side of the cut.

He was taken to hospital with head and internal injuries.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—Plans for a homecoming bonfire got a little out of hand.

Members of the Grand Junction High School junior class toured service stations, asking for old tires for fuel.

At one station, an attendant waved vaguely toward the rear of the building.

"You might find some there," he said.

The students did—a roof-high pile that took four hours and three truckloads to haul to the school.

The next day, rival students set fire to the pile. And later in the day, at a special student council meeting, the students learned the grim facts from police.

The tires they had taken were stored behind the service station for recapping. Their estimated value: $1,800.

There was no indication who will foot the bill.

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's youth newspaper today pictured Elvis Presley as a psychological tool of Western politicians thirsting for atomic warfare.

"The 23-year-old star Presley is no artist and enjoys only limited brain power," declared the Communist organ Jungewelt.

It asserted that Presley, now doing a U.S. Army hitch in West Germany, is being paraded as a prominent personality "by people who believe in atomic war as the final solution of all political problems."

"What these people hope is that those who hail Elvis Presley's mental level as an esteemed model will also be stupid enough to carry out orders to murder," the newspaper said.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The chief oral surgeon at Walter Reed Hospital said the whereabouts of a tooth removed from President Eisenhower's jaw is a secret.

"I am not allowed to discuss anything about the president's tooth; that was told me by the commanding general," said Col. Robert B. Shira, who pulled a molar from the presidential mouth last February.

Shira's remarks were made in response to reporters' questions while he was here to address the Louisville District Dental Society.

TORONTO (CP)—The cinder pile on Bobblock Avenue was 50 feet high when board of control succumbed to residents' complaints and exproriated the offending lot for $16,500.

Happily, the housewives, plagued by cinder-soiled washing, furniture and children, watched the cinders trucked away.

Aghast, they watched more city trucks roll up to deposit rock salt until there was a 20-foot white pile replacing the old black one.

Explained city officials: the stockpiled salt is for street snow clearance. It will be gone by March.

NEWS BRIEFS

SENTENCE CONVICT

MONTREAL (CP) — Rene Hamel, 22, serving seven years for armed bank robbery, today was sentenced to an additional three years for the attempted murder of a prison guard.

Guard Francois Roby, 48, spent 15 days in hospital recovering from wounds inflicted when Hamel drew a knife on him in the hospital of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

HOSTILE HOUSEWIVES

MONTREAL (CP)—Six housewives barricaded a road in suburban Chambly with empty oil drums and planks saying speeding cars endangered their children. The barrier was removed Thursday when Quebec Provincial Police said they would assign two men to patrol the stretch.

SCIENTISTS TO AIM AT MARS, VENUS

The U.S. moon rocket topped all other efforts of man to send vehicles into space but it will soon be just another mark on the chart as rockets are sent outward toward Mars and Venus. The moon rocket reached a height of over 79,000 miles before returning into the earth's atmosphere to be consumed by friction. The flight was considered a success by U.S. scientists, who received much scientific data from the recording devices in the rocket. Another rocket will be aimed at the moon on Nov. 7.

Elderly Coast Man Trapped In Bathtub

VANCOUVER (CP) — An 82-year-old man was taken to hospital here Thursday night after being stranded in a bathtub at his home for 20 hours. Police said W. E. Roberts was trapped because he was unable to pull himself out. A relative found the man in the tub; covered only by a dressing gown.

FREIGHT JUMPS RAIL

TRURO, N. S. (CP)—Eighteen cars of a 36-car Canadian National Railways freight train jumped the track 10 miles east of here Wednesday, tearing up 100 yards of track and tying up traffic between here and New Glasgow. No one was injured.

Regina Youths Remanded For Store Theft

Two 18-year-old youths who came here recently from Regina (one was attending school here and the other gained a job with a trucking firm) this morning pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft at a local grocery store.

Remanded in custody for sentence, by Magistrate Donald White were Raymond Ross Craig and James Vincent Peters.

The pair were arrested at a local rooming house where they were staying. Intensive RCMP investigation led to the solving of the break-in, which occurred at Kaufmann's Grocery, Glenmore Road, Sunday, October 5.

Stolen at the time was merchandise — largely made up of cigarettes and groceries — valued at $130.
